Tacoma Links To Host Western Conference

Mrs. Julia B. Smith
Western Area Director of Links, Inc.

Mrs. Bil Moss
Tacoma Chapter of Links, Inc. President

Dr. Helen G. Edmunds
National President of the Links, Inc.

The Tacoma Chapter of Links will host the twentieth WESTERN AREA Conference of Links, Inc. on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday; June 29, 30, and July 1 at the Evergreen Inn in Olympia, Washington. Link Women in Action will be brought to the Pacific Northwest from California, Texax, Colorado, Arizona, and Oregon.

For over a quarter of a century, Link, Inc. has gathered momentum, continually redefined its purposes, sharpened its focus and expanded program dimensions in order to make the hame Link not only a chain of friendship but, also, a chain of purpose. Links, Incorporated is committed to the three-fold purpose of educational, cultural and civic activities. Aside from its local efforts, involving thousands of youths, the organization supported the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People through its chapter requirements of Life-memberships. It made very tengible contributions to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund in the 1960s at a time when this nation was in crisis. It supported the "Upward Reach and Outward Thrust" program of the National Urban League with youth in the inner cities of our urban society. In 1972, Links were pledged to the United Negro College Fund and Sickle Cell Anemia and in 1974 to the United Negro College Fund. No cause is too difficult for Links, Incorporated to bear that results in a more democratic society and ushers minority Americans into the mainstream of national life. The organization has three program areas which implement its charter purposes.

The local chapter is chaired by MRS. BIL MOSS, supported by Mrs. James Wilson, Vice President, Mrs. William Wade, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Clarence Edwards, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Hugh Fountain, Financial Secretary; Mrs. A. O. Boddie, Treasurer and Mesdames Earl Blackshear, Carl Brown, William Downey, John Finley, William Hall, Harry Jeffires, John Marks, Clarence Martin, Robert Morris, Charles Owen, W. P. Stafford and Edwin Williams.

Its program emphasis, besides its contributions as a part of the national organization, has been reflected in the Energy and activity in initiating community-wide interest in Sickle Cell Anemia which resulted in a funded Pierce County Program and its annual juried art show for junior and senior high students in the Pierce County Area as well as a multitude of efforts in the area of health, education and welfare for all citizens.

Now, you can get this important health care for your children–and glasses, hearing aids, or dental care if needed. A medical coupon wll cover the cost.

At local clinics or at several doctor's offices, your child's vision and hearing, his teeth, his heart, his general growth and immunizations will be checked; a blood and urine test done and a medical history taken. If any problems are found, your child will be referred to a doctor for treatment.

To Be Equal

THE WHITE PROBLEM

By Vernon E. Jordan Jr.
Executive Director-
National Urban League

NEW YORK.—You might think that the Watergate mess might dampen the ardor of the law and order crowd, but apparently it hasn't.

Although official statistics indicate a down-turn in the crime rate, public hysteria continues to grow. There is a new push for more prisons, tougher sentences, and the restoration of the death penalty—none of which have deterred crime in the past.

A kitty of over half a billion dollars has been proposed to build 10 more federal maximum security prisons. A revision of the federal criminal code has been proposed that would set high minimum sentences and mandate long prison terms and even death for some crimes. And at least 13 states have taken advantage of the Supreme Court's ruling that left the way open to reinstate the death penalty if it is applied uniformly, to reimpose that needless and brutal sentence.

If the goal of all these steps is to cut crime, they make no sense at all. Their only result will be to blindly lash out at people convicted of crimes, while leaving the causes of crime and the inequities of the present criminal justice system intact.

With probation and counseling services starved for funds, for example, it couldn't be more wasteful than to build new maximum security jails. The record of the prison system is an almost unbroken tale of failure, of racism, of brutality, and of training for future crimes.

Stiff sentences never deterred criminals in the past, even when pick-pockets were hung and thieves drawn and quartered. To suppose that long mandatory sentences, or even the death penalty, will cut crime now is a form of self-deception that only diverts attention from the real causes and cures of crime.

Going Unheeded

A lot of research and thinking has gone into the problem of crime in recent years. A couple of Presidential commissions and professional associations have made some sensible observations and suggestions, but in the present climate they are going unheeded. A brief look at some facts is enough to show that the current proposals are taking us down a blind alley.

Sentences are already very high. The average federal prisoner is serving about six years, while in Europe sentences over five years are very rare. Far less than 1 per cent of prisoners in Swedish jails are serving as much as four years.

Sentencing procedures are biased against the poor and the black. Defendants with private lawyers are sentenced half as severely as those who can't afford them. Blacks nearly always get longer sentences than do whites for the same crimes.

"White-collar" crime goes largely unpunished. A theft of a few dollars can draw a six-month sentence, but a multi-million dollar stock fraud criminal can get off with a suspended sentence and go home to his house in the suburbs.

Unequal Justice

Nearly three-fourths of those convicted of auto theft went to jail for an average term of three years, but only 15 per cent of those convicted in stock frauds that undermine the economic system went to jail at all, and their average term was less than a year.

It ought to be clear by now that prisons are only factories of bitterness, mass-producing angry, frustrated individuals with a grudge against society. Caging a man up, stripping him of his freedom, his family, his self-respect, his mental and physical needs, is not going to rehabilitate him.

The criminal justice system is a failure, not because there aren't enough jails, not because judges are "soft-headed," not because "criminals" have too many rights, but because it is shot through with discrimination against the poor and the black, with capriciousness that over-punishes some crimes while letting others escape the law, with a lack of humanity, with no realistic means of encouraging people convicted of crimes to become contributing members of the community and because it stresses blind vengeance at the expense of rehabilitation.

This results in great personal tragedies, but perhaps more important, it undermines the whole structure of law and society.

What other Black Editor Say

LA scores

[from the Atlanta Inquirer]

The election of Tom Bradley to become Mayor of the City of Los Angeles is unique in many ways and serves as an example to be followed by other cities that sincerely want to demonstrate a whopping decrease in polarization.

Bradley, who will become on July 1 the first Black Mayor of the nation's third largest city, is the son of a Texas sharecropper. He won in a city that has three million residents, about 16 percent of whom are Black. He won out over tacts of racial undertones that were popular decades ago. He kept his "cool" after similar tacts led to his defeat for the same post in 1969.

Mayor Bradley had a dream -- and a program -- and he took both before the people.

The people responded with a near 100,000-vote margin and 56 percent of the vote over incumbent Sam Yorty, best described as a political maverick.

And this is where the Bradley election is most significant and most unique. The voters of Los Angeles scored!

The Los Angeles election is, therefore, much more than a Bradley triumph; much more than the triumph of a Black working within the system. It is a triumph for the voters who told racism to go somewhere and hide.

Atlanta, too, is considered L.A. -- Lovely Atlanta. It, too, has the chance to elect a Black mayor this fall. But Atlanta also is unique and we feel the voters of that city are going to register a new sophistication in the coming election -- sophistication of voting for the best man.

There may be some subtleties of racial undertones in the election, but we think the city has grown past that stage. Especially when one considers the 1969 election where a religious issue in the waning days of campaigning caught the voters' attention and turned them toward Mayor Sam Massell.

While we congratulate Bradley and the L.A. voters for their Big Score, we think of the job ahead to elect leadership that will be people-oriented.

And, finally, the Bradley election is significant in that the new mayor says the system can't be changed by working from outside. Bradley said he hopes young people disenchanted with the American way of life will look at his humble beginnings and see that he, too, lived on the outside of the good life of America for so many years.

At a time of Watergate, etc., it is especially difficult for many to have much faith in the system.

But L.A. voters scored. Voters everywhere can do the same.

Speaks out . . .

LOS ANGELES—Mayor-elect Tom Bradley said at a news conference that gas rationing and a total traffic ban would prove economically 'devistating' to Los Angeles, if and when Federal Environmental officials actually put their proposal into effect. Bradley said further that it was 'obviously unrealistic' that L.A. residents stop driving in 1977.

Washington bars sex discrimination

House Bill 404 became effective in the State of Washington on June 7, 1973. This is a bill relating to the Laws against Discrimination.

Basically, discrimination has been a matter of state concern since the early passage of laws covering race, color, creed, national origin and age. In 1971 the legislature amended the law to incude non-discrimination in employment on the basis of sex. Now in 1973 discrimination on the bais of marital status has been declared unlawful by the lawmakers as they recently amended the Law. Marital status covers employment, credit and insurance transactions and real property transactions.

In Employment - Employers cannot refuse to hire an applicant because a spouse works for the same company.

In Housing -- It is now an unfair practice to discriminate in the course of negotiating, executing or financing a real estate transaction whether by mortgage, deed or trust, contract or other instrument imposing a lien or other security of real property or in negotiating or executing any item or service related thereto including issuance of title insurance, mortgage insurance, loan guarantee, or other aspects of the transaction. In housing this means that the average citizen in the market for a rental, lease or purchase of real property, which includes apartments, etc., cannot be refused on the basis of marital status.

In Credit Transactions -- Credit cannot be refused based on marital status.

In Insurance -- It is an unfair practice under the Washington State Law Against Discrimination for ANY person, whether acting for himself (herself) or another, in connection with an insurance transaction to fail or refuse to issue or renew insurance to any person because of sex, marital status, race, creed, color or national origin.

Application for Credit -- It is an unfair practice to use or require designation of the sex, race, creed, color or national origin of any person on ANY document concerning an application for credit in any credit transaction.

New to the Law Against Discrimination is an addition which makes it possible for any person who deems that he has been injured by any act in violation of the Law Against Discrimination to have recourse through civil action in the courts to enjoin such respondents from further violations and to recover the actual damages sustained by him or her together with the cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, or any other remedy authorized by the Law Against Discrimination or the U.S. Civil Rights Action of 1964.

Dear Tac-Vac

by: Ted Jefferson

Q-- I keep reading and hearing that World War II veterans received full tuition and $75 monthly subsistance allowance while going to school under the GI Bill. This true?

A-- World War II veterans received up to $500 for tuition books and supplies for a full school year. All above that they had to pay themselves. The single full-time veteran student did receive $75 per month, but he was restricted to a maximum wage earnings of $210 per month, including the $75 GI Bill allowance.

Q-- In 1970 I suffered a service-connected disability while on active duty. I now draw VA peacetime compensation rated at 100 percent which is $608 per month. I have a wife and five children. I understand that the peacetime compensation is supposed to be equalized with the higher wartime rates on July 1. If this is so, how much will I be getting?

A-- Your $608 VA compensation is the correct wartime rate for a veteran, wife and five children. Your compensation will not change when wartime and peacetime rates are equalixed on July 1. You would be getting $486 total payment if you were receiving the current peacetime rate.

Q-- Will Tacoma Veterans Action Center participate in Expo '73 to be held at the University of Puget Sound on June 27 thru July 1?

A-- Yes.

Q-- I have been told by a neighbor that I can apply for home loan guarantee under the GI Bill even though I served during World War II. Is that correct?

A-- Expiration dates on GI loan eligibility were removed in 1970. Also, the eligibility of World War II and Korea veterans was restored where their entitlement has expired. Eligibility for GI loans now runs until a veteran uses it. Specific information may be obtained from the nearest VA office.

Address your questions concerning veterans to: Veterans Action Center, 1321½ So. "K" Street, Tacoma, Washington 98405 TEL: 383-4008.

Lurb Endorses Return of $70,000

The Model Neighborhood Land Use Review Board (LURB) endorsed a revenue sharing proposal to return a $70,000 home rehabilitation loan fund to Model Cities.

At its meeting Monday, the LURB asked for the city management team to make the proposal a high priority. The $70,000 loan fund is part of the Neighborhood Development Program, a joint Urban Renewal and Model Cities project. The Model Cities board has asked that the money be returned because the loans will eventually be repaid to the city.

The Land Use Review Board is designed to assist in developing a comprehensive land use plan for the Model Neighborhood. The advisory body makes suggestions for land use to the Model Cities Program, City Planning, Board of Adjustments, and City Council.

One of the Model Cities representatives, Junior N. R. Ellis, is also chairman of the board. The other two Model Cities members are Harris M. York and Joe Wallace. Three professional positions are filled by Dallas Hoopes, Dohn Swedberg, and Harold Bond. Felix Simms is the member at large.

During Monday's meeting, Chairman Ellis asked for more support of the LURB and its meetings. He encouraged members and citizens to attend the meetings regularly and to help with the important decisions that must be made about use of Model Neighborhood property.

Food For Thought

G. M. Batie

People, as a whole are eating five times as much chicken as they did many years ago, and there's a reason: Chickens have improved in quality and are economical and easy to use. You can get just the piece you want if you don't care for the whole bird.

CHICKEN BISCUIT ROLL

(with a salad.....you have an entire meal)

2 cups diced cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped ripe olives small onion chopped finely
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/2 teaspoon paprika
salt and pepper to taste

BISCUIT DOUGH (2 cans biscuit serves purpose)

2 cups flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup milk

SAUCE TO POUR OVER ROLL: 1 can cream of mushroom soup and 1/2 milk

Mix chicken, olives, onion, pimiento and paprika together: Sift flour salt, and baking powder together. Rub in shortening with finger tips making coarse crumbs, and add milk, stirring quickly until a soft dough is formed. Turn out on a lightly floured board and roll into a 8 x 12 rectangle. Spread mixed chicken, olives, onion and pimiento over dough evenly. Roll as for a jelly roll. Place in shallow greased pan. Bake at 450 degrees for 20 minutes. Heat mushroom soup and milk and pour over roll on a hot platter Slice to serve.

Black Elected officials meet

LOS ANGELES—Some of the top political campaign consultants and field strategists in California and the Nation will give a behind-the-scenes look at how to win elections, at the coming Western Conference of Black Elected Officials scheduled for June 30 in Los Angeles.

Senator Mervyn M. Dymally, (D-Los Angeles), in charge of plans for the Western Conference, estimated more than 300 persons from the Western States will attend the event, to be held at International Hotel in Los Angeles. Dymally is also co-chairman of the National Conference of Black Elected Officials and helped form both the state and national groups.

Featured political strategists on the panel, "Practical Politics: Passport to Progress," will be:

—Sanford Weiner, of Weiner and Company of San Francisco, and Joe Cerrell, of Cerrell and Associates of Los Angeles. Each heads what is recognized as one of the nation's top political campaign planning and operations firms.

—Willard Murray, veteran field man and political campaigner in many Los Angeles area campaigns.

—Steve Smith, head of Pacific Management Associates, of Los Angeles, a major polling and campaign planning firm.

—Robert Farrell, former journalist with experience in many elected officials' staffs including that of former Los Angeles Councilman Billy Mills, and who recently helped direct the successful election campaign of Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles.

YOUR GARDEN

TAKE ZEST OUT OF THE PEST

Many recent agronomical studies are in agreement about one thing: strong, healthy vegetables seem to be the least tempting to most destructive insects and diseases. So the first thing to consider in pest control is that well-tended, organically grown vegetable crops put you halfway home in your battle with pests.

As to the other half, there are ways and means of battling nuisances--if you are consistent. One way to be consistent is to use a very effective, insecticide called Spectracide, which is a broad-spectrum, nonpersistent chemical containing diazinon that can be used not only for vegetables, but flowers, fruits and lawn pests.

Here are some anti-pest precautions for vegetable growing:

1. Use crop rotation in your vegetable garden.
2. Choose disease-and insect-resistant vegetable plants varieties wherever possible.
3. Always remove dead or diseased vegetables.
4. Cleanliness is vital. Keep the vegetable garden free of trimmings and waste.
5. Dust or spray with an insecticide every two weeks during the growing season, up till 10 days before harvesting for most vegetable crops.

SERVICES TO YOUTH

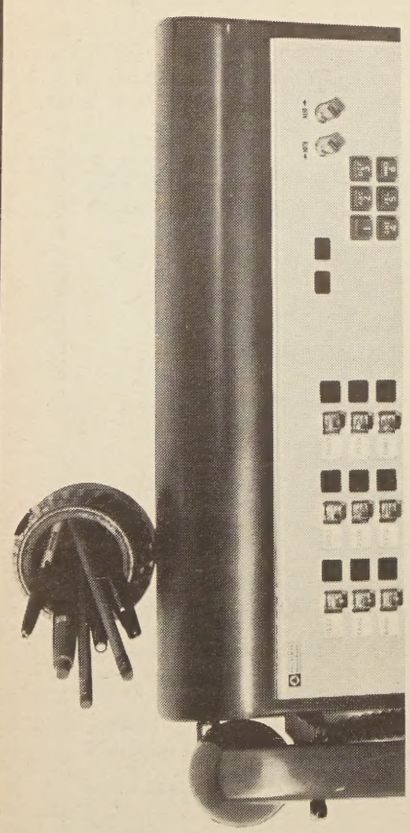
Links are constitutionally pledged and do execute a national program of services to youth. The 1970s priorities are: The preservation of the African-American heritage; the college-bound and talent identification; day care centers; drugs and youth; continued emphasis upon the educationally and culturally deprived; the environment and youth concerns; family life education; teenage employment and a genuine attempt to implement those worthwhile decisions evolving from the White House Conference and Youth.

Links are constitutionally pledged and do execute a national program of intense motivation in the creative and performing arts. Art Exhibits by and for minority youths are often their first experiences in intercultural participation. In 1970, Links presented, perhaps the only Black Art Exibit "Discovery 70" within the past 25 years. Additional dimensions in the 1970s constitute emphases on creative writing, the dance, children's theatre and the ultimate combination of all of these into fine Arts Festivals. The basic thrust of the 1970s is to make art the common heritage of every local community. It can be aptly said that young dancers, musicians, painters, sculptors and budding poets find a collective friend in Link women in one hundred and eighteen cities of the nation.

As adult Americans. Link women are concerned with first-class citizenship and they have shown first-class participation. They ar are dedicated to civic awareness and civic duty because they believe in American Democracy. The problem of the 1970s find them engaged in newer priorities, pledged to achieve constructive results in the areas of citizenship, environment, health and manpower, housing, minority business enterprises, retooling minority women, senior citizens, and the activation of the Women Power Commission for the purposes of identifying talents and seeing that it has an opportunity on the broader panorama of American life.

The additional facet of program area relates to support of the international relations of the United States Government in mutual understanding among nations where attention has been focused upon the emerging nations of Africa and the problems of recently emancipated nations.

Thousands of Link women throughout the length and breadth of this land work in their individual as well as chapter capacities as evidenced in the following WHOS WHO in Linkdom. Included in GOVERNMENT is Link Julie Smith, Director of Social Planning and Programming for the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency a member of California State Task Force and a representative to President Nixon's White House Conference on Aging. Her work as a member of the National Force on Relocation and Equal Opportunity has received wide acknowledgment. Link Smith is the NEWLY ELECTED DIRECTOR OF THE WESTERN AREA In POLITICS is Dr. Barbara Jordan, the first black women elected to the State of Texas Senate in 1966, first President Pro-Tempore of the Texas Senate. In 1972, she was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. In MEDICINE, Dr. Helen O. Dickens cited "one of the most respected physicians and an inspiration to aspiring Afro-American medical students," is a recipient of the American Cancer Society's 1970 National Division Award in recognition of her outstanding efforts in behalf of cancer control. In EDUCATION is included Link Evelyn Harper who was presented the 1971 Presidents plaque and award for distinguised leadership as president of the Kansas-National Education Association during the 1970-71 fiscal year. Her talents have been recognized frequently by the Kansas-National Education Association (K-NEA), National Education Association (NEA) the state of Kansas and Atchison where she has served on numerous social, civic and education committees, commissions, and executive boards. In BUSINESS, there is Laura Forniss who established Birmingham, Alabama's first black-owned women's speciality shop which makes a contribution by creating jobs to help people help themselves. In HUMAN RELATIONS AND CIVIC ENDEAVORS among the many is TACOMA'S Own Link Helen Stafford voted State Woman Achievement in 1971 by the State Business and Professional Women's Clubs, she was the first black state-wide women to be named to his honor. Link Stafford was the first black to be employed as a social worker in the State Department of Public Welfare. She was the first organizer in the northwest of the Alpha Kappa Sorority and is a charter member of the Tacoma Chapter of Links. In CREATIVE WRITING AND JOURNALISM is the National President Dr. Helen Edmonds Professor of History and Dean of the Graduate School at North Carolina Central University, alternate delegate to General Assembly of the United Nations in 1970 and the distinguished author of "Black Faces in High Places: and "The Negro in Fusion Politics."



You Need Both Halves...

Northwest Interiors got more than just modern telephone equipment when they moved from Seattle to Enumclaw.

They got a custom-designed Total Communications system. From us.

After looking at the equipment others had to offer, Northwest Interiors decided they wanted everything that goes along with it. The whole thing!

So we supplied modern Call Director® telephones. We also installed special lines to provide toll-free customer calling from Seattle. We provided a Business Interphone System and three intercom lines. We installed private lines to their warehouse.

We didn't stop there.

We also pay the property taxes on the equipment. We guarantee it. We provide continuing maintenance and no extra charge repair service. When needed we will provide training programs for Northwest Interiors' employees.

Our Communications Consultants will schedule periodic inspections of the new system to be sure everything is operating properly. At no extra charge.

We can provide the same Total Communications for your business, too.

Michael J. Tucci

Michael J. Tucci Passes

Friends and co-workers said goodby Tuesday to Michael J. Tucci, a sterling stalwart of the community. A good neighbor to many who died Friday, June 22, 1973.

When the Associated General Contractors of America, Inc., especially the Seattle chapter, were having problems with minority demonstrations, and job shutdowns for the lack of minority participation in the construction, and the building trades, Mr. Tucci, along with other members of the Tacoma Chapter A.G.C. and Local Union officials formed the Action Committee for Minority Employment, from which her received an award last February to avert similar actions by minorities in Pierce County and adjacent counties.

Mr. Tucci employed the first minority operating engineer trainee from Local 612, and after 500 hours promoted him to a journeyman. Mr. Tucci did not stop there, he supplied heavy equipment fuel and a trainning area for the trainning and upgrading of minorities, especially in the field of operating engineers.

Mr. Tucci will surely be missed by all of us; that is, the underpriveleged and minorities he did so much to help.

Inspiration and Destination

By Mattie Sterling Hale

"COULD THIS BE YOU?"

A young man sad
In deep dismay.
Walks slowly along
The streets so gray
He has to go;
He don't know where,
The world he lives in,
Don't seem to care.
He watches the crowd,
Move swiftly by.
While he still wanders,
and wish and sigh.
His heart is heavy;
His feet are tired.
He tries to escape;
But there is no place to hide.
He reached out;
He pleads for help,
But no one notices,
His aimless steps.
He turns to his friends
but to his surprise
finds them with problems
And no place to hide.
If they knew the Savior
And His plans for their lives
They would never be wandering with no place to hide

Perhaps a few old timers remember when mothers made many things out of flour sacks or potato bags. - The time is back, if you can find them, to again sew up a few items for yourselves or children to help cut the cost of inflation.

If you can find an empty flour sack, make into a blouse or skirt, the colorful printing will be an interesting attire to be worn for sports or at the beach.

More and more women are discovering that jogging and running do wonders not only for circulation but disposition. If you need to let off steam (tension) run or jog. If you have health problems talk to your doctor first.

Many things can be done with long silk scarfs other than wear around your neck. Why not add a splash of color by tying one to a shoulder bag when wearing a suit.

Remember the days of the flirt? That was a romantic time - when you did not tell everything about yourself, you kept them guessing. This was the time of the sleazy halter dress.

A gentleman in New York has introduced halter sweaters trimmed with rhinestone clips to be worn with satin slip skirts. Must be nostalgia for many.

Ladies do trim down by restricting the calorie intake, plus plenty of exercise so as to sashay in, the NOW IN STYLE.

Strategy For Survival

Welfare Rights Action Council is made up of a group of low-income people who are fighting to help all of the low-income people in the Tacoma Area. They have been active in Tacoma since 1968.

This is a crucial year to all welfare and Socieal Security people. Aid to Blind; Aid to Disabled, and Old Age. There are many new regulations coming down from the Department of H.E.W. and they will set us back years. Everything that National Welfare Rights Organization has accomplished through protests in the courts and demonstrations in the streets will be gone with the new set of Regulations just released by Secretary of H.E.W. Casper Weinberger.

For the past five years, the Nixon Administration has proposed and backed some of the most repressive legislation concerning welfare recipients in the history of this country. To our dismay, the Congress has apparently agreed with his proposals as it passed such restrictive plans as the Talmadge Amendment. These regulations and proposals show complete disregard to family units, parents ability to raise their own children and most of all an affront to personal dignity.

The N.W.R.O. of which W.R.A.C. of Tacoma is a member as well as of the Washington State W.R.O., represents over 15½ million poor people throughout this country. All of the public assistance categories are included in these groups.

The 1973 N.W.R.O. convention will bring some of the major concerns of all welfare recipients and low-income people to the forefront. Washington, D. C. is the ideal location for this year's convention as all of the decisions governing the lives of the poor begin right here in the nation's capital.

There will be many seminars and workshops at this year's convention with our theme "Strategies for Survival."

We feel in W.R.A.C. that it is important to get our delegate and alternate to the 1973 Convention so that they may get all of the information possible to bring back to Tacoma so that we may continue to help the people here handle the new regulations coming into effect July 1 and on January 1, 1974. As welfare recipients, our people do not have the funds available to make this trip and we are coming to you, the people of the area, and are asking for help to accomplish this. We have to have it by the 5th of July and it should be sent to Welfare Rights Action Council–401 Broadway, Tacoma, Washington, 98402. If you would like any questions answered you may call 572-6612.

Very greatly appreciating any help we may get, we would like to thank Tacoma Urban League, Model Cities, Metropolitan Development Council and others who have already made commitments to us to help get our representatives to D. C. The convention is July 11 to 15th.

Shown in the picture above is Bonnie Armstrong, who is one of the most effervescent sisters on the team. Bonnie's performance at third base has been inspirational. It doesn't matter if Bonnie misses the ball, she'll find it and throw out a runner against all odds. She laughs at the odds and if she gets a chance she's doin' it. A right-on sister!

Congratulations to Hank's Tavern. The team we lost to, our last game. We've taken them and they've taken us. We hope to see them in the post-season tournament.

Next game: 7:30, Heidelberg. Ujamaa vs. New Frontier Lanes.

Black Expo Entertainment

Riot, a six-piece band from Detroit, Michigan will join a bevy of bands from the Seattle-Tacoma area to provide soulful background music for Black Expo '73, June 27-July 1.

Black Expo '63, five days of soulful festivities designed to call attention to the black experience in Tacoma, will feature guest speakers, ethnic cultural events, exhibits and booths.

Since music has played such an important part in the black experience, Expo coordinators, Roger Laskey of J and L Productions and Ray Giles of the Ujamaa Culture and Recreation Center have arranged a heaping helping of musical entertainment.

The headline band "Riot" will appear on Friday and Saturday from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Formerly known as Jake Wade and the Soul Searchers the band recently completed a successful West Coast tour with War, Tower of Power and Edwin Starr.

Riot has also shared billings with stars like Isaac Hayes, Al Green Syl Johnson and Etta James and has toured the East Coast with Rare Earth and Cold Blood.

Local groups who will alternate on the Black Expo bandstand include Ricky Lockridge and Ready-Made Family, 360 Degrees, Paul Richardson Band, Hot Ice and Black Gold Unlimited, Acapulco Gold, Black & White Affair, Cold Bold and Together.

On Friday and Saturday at 9:30 p.m. the Just Us band from Seattle will pave the way for the 11 p.m. appearance by Riot.

For further information and for a full schedule of Black Expo '73 contact Ray Giles or Roger Laskey at 759-9869 U.P.S. Fieldhouse from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m., Mon-thru Sun.
